I will most likely build this as multiple pages instead of one long page, it just seems the most intuitive that way. I might have to source more info and imagery for certain topics, like the types of animals that live within a kelp forest.

- Intro/homepage – Introduces the topic as an integral part of the ocean's ecosystem
- Kelp – and its role and what it does
- Basic architecture – what part of the forest is for which types of animals
- Types of animals – types of animals that live inside the ecosystem, and where they are in the food chain/ how they fit into the entire system.
- Conservation – why the ecosystem is endangered and why we need to stop it (I might combine this with the intro)
