- Change the button background to a dark blue to make it work a bit better when on lighter background images
- Make a navigation bar
  - It might be interesting if on the home page you put the navigation bar at the bottom of the page since the composition is pretty bottom heavy
- Watch the placement of some of the boxes. Some of them are a little close
  - Also, if you do want to go with the JavaScript route, think about how it'll work when you make the site responsive
- On the animal page, edit the photos so that they are a bit more cohesive with the colors of the background image
