Project Title: Trump Won the Presidency But At Least We Have Golden Retrievers

I'd like to build a website that tells the viewer all about the best dog breed – golden retrievers. I'm going to use mostly photography and found photos from the internet, as well as from photos that I've taken. I want the site to be fairly simple and minimalistic, with the dogs as the main focus. It will be easy to navigate through pages, and I'll provide some external links to places where you can find puppies to adopt. The individual pages I'll include are, after the home page:

- Characteristics
- Coat and color/grooming
- Temperament
- Health and lifespan
- Activities/why they're the best
- A page entirely devoted to cute puppies
- Sources with links to all pages and photos
