

Fantasia (2000) Website

Content: I want the page to have tabs for basic information and a link to the iMDB page. The movie consists of short animations based on music pieces, so I want the page to open up to a bunch of squares with the movie stills. When you hover over one of the stills, I want the still to be covered with a layer of opacity and the name of the piece.

The pieces are:

1. Symphony No. 5
2. Pines of Rome
3. Rhapsody in Blue
4. Piano Concerto No. 2, Allegro, Opus 102
5. Carnival of the Animals (Le Carnaval des Animaux), Finale
6. The Sorcerer's Apprentice
7. Pomp and Circumstance, Marches #1, 2, 3, & 4
8. Firebird Suite—1919 Version

(They don't have to be listed in the exact same wordings, for example if just "Le Carnaval des Animaux" works better for #5, that's perfectly fine)

When clicking on one of these animation stills, I want it to lead to a new page with the description of the music piece (who composed it, when, etc) and also the animation itself. It would also be cool if each page had the audio/video clip (although I know the video clips in good quality are hard to find).

Style: It's a dated movie (1999), but I want the page to look pretty modern and sleek (lightweight sans-serif fonts are what I envision). It could have some crazy colors, though, because the movie has almost a psychedelic quality.
