Overview:

The site looks pretty much identical to the mockups, and things looks fantastic! It's fairly responsive, which is great as well. :D

Areas for (Possible) Improvement:

- ❖ Perhaps implement a back button, so that viewers can freely navigate both forward and backward.
- ❖ On the "THUS" page, there appears to be an odd white margin on the right-side. Not sure what the problem is, but it should be removed.
- ❖ The source (Wikipedia) should be included somewhere. It probably just hasn't been implemented yet, as the website's not done.
- ❖ Perhaps remove the arrow on the home page when the page is viewed from mobile, and perhaps give the title greater margins when it's being scaled down.
