

Content Outline

Julia Thummel

Project Title: Timeline of the Far Future Website

I'd like this site to be a scroll site with one long page, with important events having clickable headlines that lead to pages with more information. These pages could be pages that you yourself have designed, but if you are designing them, choose a maximum of 4 important events to design for since there most likely won't be enough time to design more. If you decide there are more than 4 important events, which there probably are, make these clickable links that lead to their respective wikipedia pages.

- Home Page: Timeline
  - This page should function as a scroll page so that there are multiple different sections that are divided up based on amount of time passing.
  - Ex: first section includes important events for the next one million years, second section covers the next one million years after that, and so on.
  - Each event title is a clickable link, the more important ones being larger. For each event, have a small blurb of information describing basically what it is if the title is not self explanatory.
- Big Event 1
  - Title at the top of the page
  - This page is also a scroll page with different sections on the details of the event, but maybe only has two to three sections maximum, so it is smaller than the home page which has the bulk of the information.
- Big Event 2
  - Same as event 1
- Big Event 3
  - Same as event 1
- Big event 4
  - Same as event 1
- Sources
  - Have your sources listed in a section at the bottom of the home page in the format of a footer.