

Creative Director: Kristen DeMondo
Designer: Ji Lee
Microsite: Hands Like Houses

- The intro page is really nicely done and adds a really striking entrance to the page. Also the background image that it leads into and is the background image for the other pages fits really well and the colors are perfect.
- One thing that could be adjusted is the margins, as the paragraphs seem really wide especially on the history page.
- On the history page, make each section just one large paragraph, as the one and two sentence paragraphs create an odd looking rag.
- I like the scroll feature on the album page. It works perfectly and really suits the content.
- The final thing that needs to be worked on is the responsiveness of the pages, notably with the menu bar.