Notes from Mockup Review

- Delete the hamburger drop down menu bar on the desktop sites
- Move navbar to the right
- More space between the time periods and the title
- Make the image and the text the same size on the attractions page
- Make the culture page based on different categories and include all the necessary information in that category, instead of having two separate food tabs
- Put the category names and the "read more" box in the white space and just write the word (remove the box altogether)
