Project Title: Women's artistic Gymnastics at the Beijing 2008 Olympics

I plan to create a site that is one long scrollable page segmented into several interactive sections. There is a lot of content on this subject, much of which comes in the form of data tables, so I think having one page sectioned off will allow the viewer to both look at specific data while getting a general feel for the whole larger context. I am not sold on this layout, though, I think I will decide based on how much content there ends up being for each section- if there is a lot I will likely separate those sections out into separate pages.

Outline:

Introduction- brief introduction to the Beijing games and a specific overview of the gymnastic competition at those games.

Explanation of Apparatuses - brief explanation of the four apparatuses (beam, floor, vault, and bars) and how scoring works
