PROJECT TITLE - Grease 2

- cast page is working well
    - using black and white photos, serious headshots, for these ridiculous actors (some of whom never worked again) is perfect for the sarcastic approach
- homepage could be more exaggerated
    - maybe the image of the movie theater could be black and white? or at least darker to provide more contrast with the brightly-colored picture of Grease 2
    - the picture of Grease 2 could be even uglier
- music page is a little crowded. either scaling back image or point size would allow more room between the various divs. i like the idea of showing an image from the musical/dance number next to the lyrics though.
- maybe show a mockup or two for the mobile view? right now it's hard to tell how things would fit/flow on screen with different aspect ratios.
